

We believe in the TRADITION of Success!

Notes from the Director

September 2018

We have had a fantastic summer here at NDSCS and are excited to see the smiling faces of new and returning students.

We hosted seven 2018 meet-n-greets and reconnected with about 260 alumni and friends. Thank you to all who attended. It so nice to visit and get some fun photos of our events.

Our next alumni and friends gathering is our annual NDSCS Homecoming celebration. This event brings so many people back to campus with a host of activities that includes a Catbacker Lunch, Culinary Arts Food Show, Pep Rally, Alumni & Friends Awards and Recognition Program, Parade, Football Game, Athletic Hall of Fame Banquet and much more. Please see details below and visit us on our web-site to register.

We look forward to starting our 2018-2019 fiscal year and continuing to fulfill our mission of supporting and assisting activities that develop and strengthen NDSCS Keeping the Tradition of Success alive!

THANK YOU!

Dedication of the William F. Rothwell Center for Science

WAHPETON, N.D. — (September 6, 2018) — North Dakota State College of Science dedicated its William F. Rothwell Center for Science. The area used for science education at the College has been named in honor of NDSCS alumni William F. (Bill) Rothwell, who received his Liberal Arts degree from the College in 1956.

“Today we celebrate Bill Rothwell and thank him for his support of NDSCS,” said NDSCS President John Richman. “We are honored to dedicate the William F. Rothwell Center for Science, which will impact science education for generations of NDSCS students.”

A native of Breckenridge, Minn. and a longtime supporter of the NDSCS Alumni Foundation, Rothwell recently donated $250,000 to the Foundation to create an endowment that will support NDSCS science curriculum. Inspired by his mother, who was an instructor at NDSCS from 1965-1974, Rothwell established the William F. Rothwell Endowment in 2015 to support students in Business Administration and Management. His most recent gift creates a second endowment to expand his impact to the science department. The William F.

Rothwell Center for Science Endowment will help the College meet the educational needs of its students in the years to come. Read the full story here.
